Agency Case #: 82-7117

On 04/22/1982, the partial remains of a deceased white male were recovered in an almond orchard in a rural area of Manteca, CA (San Joaquin County). The victim had two tattoos (see photos above): a snake head in blue ink on his outer right wrist, as well as a colored tattoo of a wizard on his inner left forearm. The location where the victim's body was recovered is approximately one mile south of State Highway 120.

The victim was recovered without any clothing. The victim's head, hands, and feet had been removed and have not been located. The victim is believed to have been approximately 22 to 26 years old, and it is estimated that he died the day prior (i.e., 04/21/1982). His body hair color is noted to be blonde and/or strawberry (light red).

Investigators are asking anyone with information regarding the case or identification of the victim to contact the San Joaquin County Sheriff's Office.
